

A postcard from PwC...

Name: James Scrivener

Job Title: Management Consultant

Where I work: London

I studied A Level Geography at School

How I use Geography in my work now

- Considering all stakeholder opinions when completing any project work for our clients and recognising how our work will impact each group.
- PwC is a global company and having the understanding of the political, social and economic geographies helped me to quickly understand the variety of clients that we work with across the world.
- Geography is going to be increasingly important when we think about the future of our planet and therefore what our clients need e.g. sustainability, ageing populations etc

My highlight of my job so far

- Being exposed to cool new technologies that will transfer the world of work like Virtual Reality and Drones.
- Playing virtual games with my team in our morning meetings

If I went back in time what piece of advice would I give my 17 year old self?

Commit to my studies because Education is key but make sure I balance this with hobbies e.g. sports because at uni and work these are important to help socialise and keep you healthy!

To find out more and apply, go to:
pwc.co.uk/schools

Disclaimer: This content is for general information purposes only, and should not be used as a substitute for consultation with professional advisors. Information available here is not to be relied upon as professional advice or for the rendering of professional services. © 2019 PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP (a UK limited liability partnership). All rights reserved. 'PwC' refers to the UK member firm, and may sometimes refer to the PwC network. Each member firm is a separate legal entity. Please see www.pwc.com/structure for further details.